
Activation of AnyLogic standalone application (AnyLogic Engine Runtime Application).

Dear Customer,

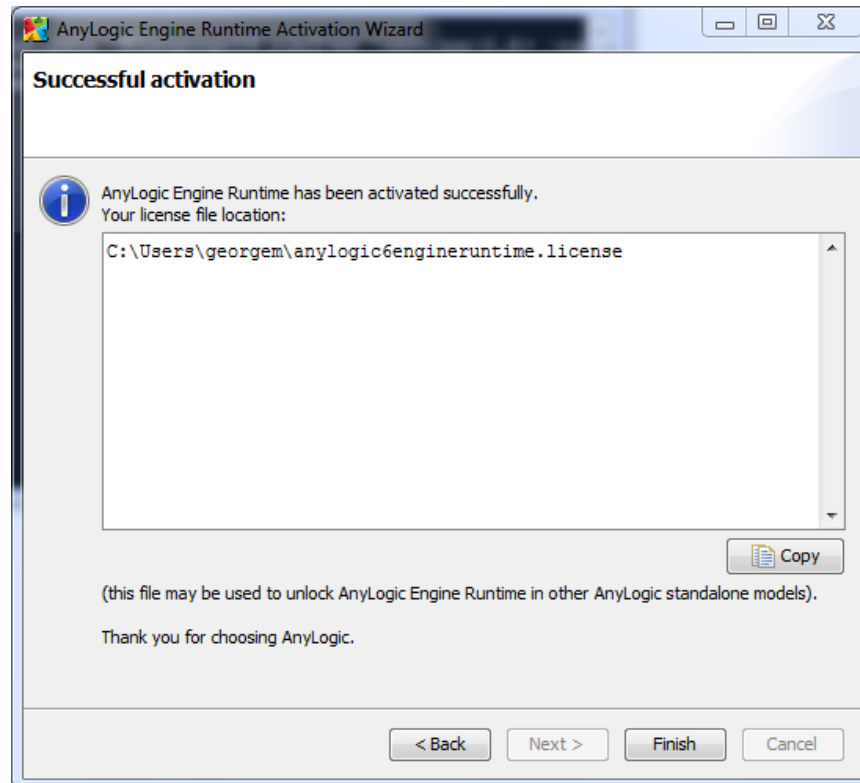

Thank you for choosing AnyLogic! To run simulation applications you need to activate AnyLogic Engine on your machine. To accomplish the activation, please follow the below instructions.

If you are activating AnyLogic Simulation Application on a computer with AnyLogic Professional installed and activated: you should use the key received for software activation. Please complete the following steps:

1. Run Simulation Application of AnyLogic. The registration wizard will show up automatically. Choose the option "Select license file". Browse for your AnyLogic license file and after selecting the appropriate file click the "Next" button.

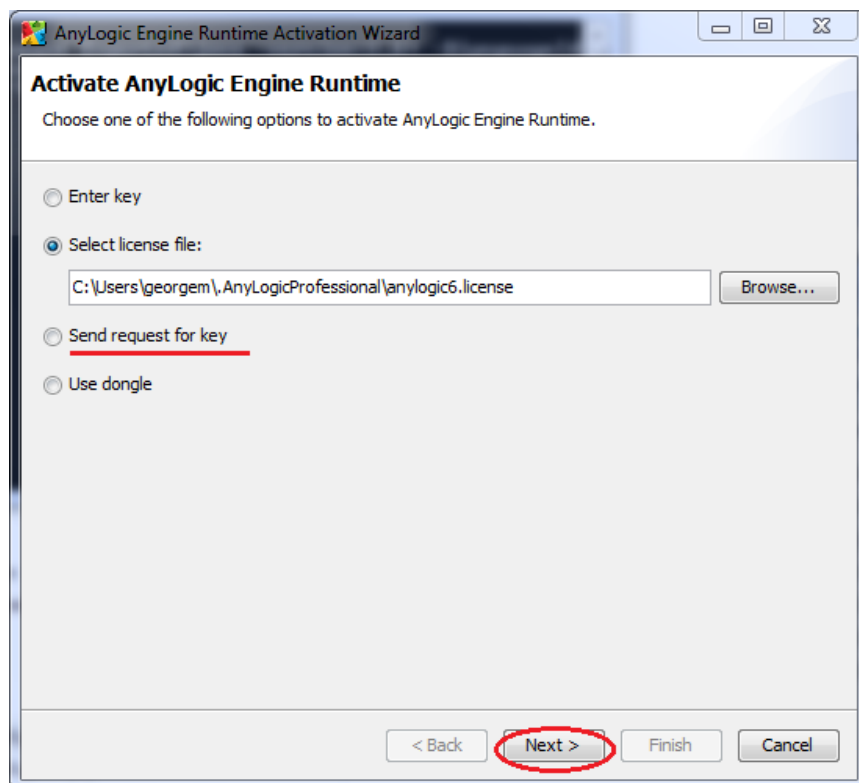

2. Your activation is completed.

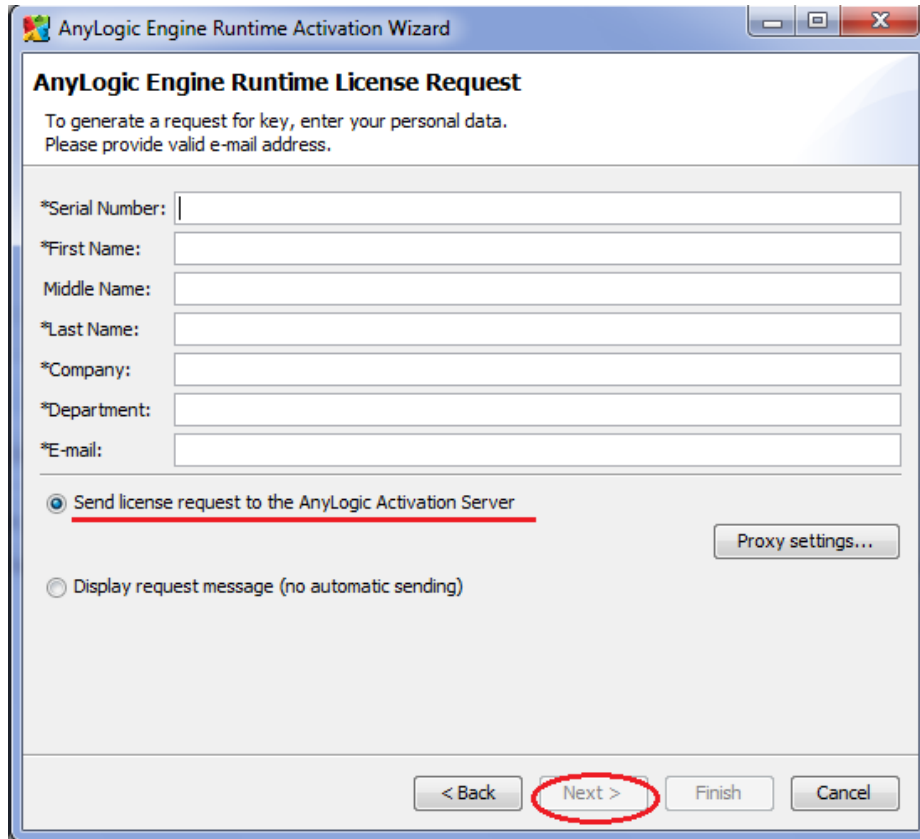

If you are activating AnyLogic Simulation Application on a computer where there is no AnyLogic Professional installed:

1. Run Simulation Application of AnyLogic. The registration wizard will show up automatically. Select the option "Send request for a key" and click the "Next" button.

2. Fill in your identification information, serial number and click the "Next" button again.

IMPORTANT NOTE! Each serial number may be used only once.
